To the ISSA Hygieia Network Community,

ISSA along with our Council and Committee members have been at the forefront of the COVID-19 outbreak. Our members are leading their own teams and organizations through this crisis. Amid the challenges, we've been inspired by the industry's quick response, dedication, and leadership.

As we navigate this crisis, it is important to support one another. The ISSA Hygieia Network will continue to foster a strong sense of community through our online programs and provide resources for cleaning industry professionals. We encourage you to do your part in staying healthy and utilize ISSA's cleaning and disinfecting resources for the coronavirus (SARS-CoV-2).

We're grateful to all industry members on the frontlines who are cleaning and disinfecting against the virus, as well as those working behind the scenes to ensure that essential customer needs are still met. Together, we can get through this and help make the world a cleaner, healthier place.

Sincerely,

Meredith Reuben
